

FUND FOR JEWISH RELIEF IN CITY REACHES $38,000

Contributions of Washingtonians to the Jewish Relief fund today approximate $38,000. The National Capital's allotment of the $10,000,000 national fund is $50,000.

This leaves $12,000 yet to be raised, and tomorrow morning twelve teams will start out on the work of active solicitation, the committee's receipts so far having come in unsolicited, save for the mass meeting held Sunday.

Jewish women of the city are planning a "sacrifice day" for Monday, which is the holiday of "The Feast of the Lights." A joint meeting of the Sisterhood of the Eighth Street Temple and the Council of Jewish Women will be held in the afternoon in the Eighth Street Temple. All the Jewish women of Washington are invited to attend, bringing with them their "sacrifices" for the relief fund. The captains of the twelve teams, which are expected to exceed the desired goal, are: Nathan Samuel, Charles Goldsmith, Max Pfaher, Mrs. Charles Goldsmith, Rudolph Behrend, D. Bergman, Mrs. Abram Simon, Joseph Strasburger, Julius I. Peyer, Harry Franc, Sidney Straus, and Louis Simon.

D. C. MERCHANTS FROWN ON PLAN TO CUT DELIVERIES

"Impracticable for Washington at this time," is the way R. P. Andrews, president of the Retail Merchants' Association, today regards the suggestion of the economy board of the Council of National Defense that one regular delivery a day be established as a maximum for retail stores throughout the United States.

"Conditions in Washington would not permit of such a radical step right now," declared Andrews in an interview today. "Over 100,000 people have been added to the population of the Capital in the past few months, and more are coming every day. Most of them arrive here with only their hand luggage. They have to set up housekeeping, and they have to have all sorts of furniture and household necessities at once. Moreover, the Christmas shopping is now under way. It would be impracticable at this time to reduce deliveries to only one a day."

"But I do think that deliveries should be reduced to two a day, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, as I shall suggest to the merchants of Washington at the meeting of the Retail Merchants' Association Monday."

"Great congestion exists in the freight yards of Washington owing to the inability of the transfer companies to handle incoming shipments. Washington merchants make four deliveries a day. By eliminating two of them they can devote part of their equipment to handling their own freight. This will do away with the long lines of cars standing in the yards waiting to be unloaded, and will release cars quickly for use. Such a course might possibly aid in doing away with the present embargo."

LAST RITES FOR JUSTICE SHEPARD HELD TODAY

Funeral services for Justice Seth Shepard, retired chief justice of the Court of Appeals, who died Monday, are being held today from St. John's Episcopal Church, Sixteenth and H streets northwest. The services began at 2 o'clock.

Interment will be in Rock Creek Cemetery.

The pallbearers are Chief Justice Smyth, of the Court of Appeals; Associate Justices Robt. and Van Orsdel, Henry W. Hodges, clerk of the court; Leigh Robinson, and George E. Hamilton.

Members of Camp 171, United Confederate Veterans' Association, of which Justice Shepard was a member, attended the services in uniform.

WOMEN FOR U. S. ARMY PROPOSED IN CONGRESS

Women will be eligible for enlistment in the army "for any service the Secretary of War may designate," and may receive commissions as officers in the aviation service, under a bill introduced in the House today by Congressman Hubert, New York.

Hubert's bill was prompted by recommendation of the War Department to commission Miss Ruth Law, noted aviator, for foreign service.

He will formally introduce Miss Law to members at the Capitol this afternoon.

WILMETT TAKES OATH AS BUREAU DIRECTOR MONDAY

James L. Wilmett, appointed by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo as director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, will take the oath of office and assume his new duties probably next Monday. He succeeds Joseph E. Ralph, whose resignation took effect December 1.

Paul F. Myers, for several years chief clerk of the Internal Revenue Bureau of the Treasury, will succeed Mr. Wilmett as chief clerk of the department.

Mr. Wilmett was appointed by Secretary McAdoo as a recognition of his faithful and efficient service in the department. He has risen in twenty years from $60 a month to a big executive position commanding $5,000 a year in the Government service.

Returns to City.

The new director returned to Washington from New York this morning, and hopes to have two or three days' rest before taking up his new duties. His appointment is expected to meet with popular approval in the Treasury Department and in the bureau.

Mr. Wilmett is a native of Tennessee, but as a youth moved to Arkansas. He attended the grammar and high school at Prescott, his home town, and after being graduated from college at Corinth came to Washington to enter the Government service under civil service.

He was appointed February 25, 1905, to the office of the sixth auditor, signing money orders at $60 a month. He won his way to the position of assistant chief of division in this office, and took up the study of law in the National University Law School here.

When he got his degree in 1906, he was made law officer in the office of the Comptroller of the Treasury. He held that position until October 1, 1910, when he was made chief clerk of the department by Secretary McAdoo. In that position he was responsible for many reforms and took a leading part in the sanitation of Government buildings in Washington.

Organized Supply Work.

He practically organized and first directed the activities of the General Supply Committee, which purchases supplies for the Government in Washington.

In addition to his administrative work, he assumed direction of many important executive tasks under Secretary McAdoo, and was a member of the committee which several months ago investigated conditions at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing.

John L. Summers, of Tennessee, has been appointed disbursing clerk of the Treasury Department to succeed Sydney R. Jacobs. He was recently appointed deputy commissioner in charge of accounts of the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

ADMITS FALSE THEFT CHARGE AGAINST GIRL

BALTIMORE, Dec. 6.—That he had wrongly accused Grace Neeson, sixteen years old, of picking up $180 which he said he dropped on the street yesterday, developed when Joseph Doyle came before Justice Hanft in the southern police station. When searched at the station house, the money was found in Doyle's pocket. The girl, who is a blind, had to be led to the witness stand. She was excited, and at times it was thought that she would collapse. The mother of the girl expressed indignation at the false accusation, and said she intended to institute suit. Justice Hanft sharply reprimanded Doyle, and fined him $2 and costs on a charge of being drunk.

LINK IN GERMAN SPY SYSTEM HELD IN CUBA

HAVANA, Dec. 6.—Government officials today declined to discuss the outcome of investigations being made of the operations of a spy arrested here after it was learned that he had detailed plans of the fortifications of Cuba in his possession. The prisoner said he was a Russian.

The authorities are said to be working on the theory that the prisoner was in the pay of the German government, and was a link in the chain of the long-distance messenger service Germany has been conducting between the West Indies and Spain by the use of submarines. Other arrests are looked for, it is reported today.

GAVE DINNER TO HONOR SINKING OF LUSITANIA

BOSTON, Dec. 6.—Clement Haas, treasurer of the Tate Manufacturing Company, of this city, and prominent in business and society, has been arrested here by agents of the Department of Justice. It is alleged Haas, who is a German, gave a dinner party in celebration of the sinking of the Lusitania. Haas was a link in the chain of the long-distance messenger service Germany has been conducting between the West Indies and Spain by the use of submarines. Other arrests are looked for, it is reported today.

JUMPS INTO CANAL, BUT IS TOO FAT TO DROWN

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 6.—Alfred Williams, forty-four, is too fat to die. That's why he's alive today. He weighs 250 pounds.

Williams jumped into the canal. Bystanders thought he was gone. They called the morgue wagon. Williams, however, floating half a mile in a cork, then was leisurely fished out by the police.

AMERICAN THEATER SOLD TO CRANDALL; WILL BE IMPROVED

Harry M. Crandall, head of Crandall's circuit of theaters, has taken over the American Theater, at First and Rhode Island avenue northwest, and has added it to his chain of houses. The acquisition of the American gives Mr. Crandall one of the strongest and most compact groups of motion picture theaters in the East, practically covering every section of Washington. His circuit now includes the Knickerbocker, Eighteenth and Columbia road; Crandall's, Ninth and E streets; the Savoy, Fourteenth and Columbia road; the Avenue Grand, 645 Pennsylvania avenue southeast; the Apollo, 624 H street northeast, and the American, Rhode Island avenue and First street northwest.

Mr. Crandall has planned numerous changes in his new purchase and will close the theater from the night of December 11 to the evening of December 13. During this time the American will be thoroughly overhauled. The interior will be redecorated, the prevailing color scheme being old gray, ivory, and gold. The spacious lobby extending across the entire front on Rhode Island avenue will be painted to harmonize with the interior. The exterior will be painted verdure green, heightened with metallic bronze. The lighting system, both interior and exterior, will be entirely rearranged. Recently patented high-powered searchlight lamps will be installed and the front of the theater will be a blaze of light. Semi-direct lighting fixtures will replace those in the lobby and the interior will have the indirect system of illumination and the wall brackets will be of hammered brass. New hangings and draperies in harmony with the color scheme of decoration will replace those now in position. The stage will be set with new scenery. In speaking of the acquisition of the American Theater, Mr. Crandall said:

"I've been angling for the house for some time. I will most likely close the house this coming summer for extensive remodeling, installing a balcony and so arranging the interior as to afford a seating capacity of 1,100. I am now in negotiation for theaters in various sections of Maryland and adjacent States to further enlarge my circuit of photoplay houses."
